Registration at Tularcitos

FADDISTS

Brunhilda Brown was tall and thin,
Her heart was sound, she know no sin;
She lived on carrot juice and stew
And passed away, aged forty-two.

Josephus Jones made local news
Religiously avoiding booze.
He watched his health and chewed his food
But died from moral turpitude.

Now Aunt Amanda's fat and strong,
But ev'rything she does is wrong:
She bolts her food and guzzles beer
And cusses like a buccaneer.

She tromps around in snow or rain
And never has a moment's pain.
Says she and doctors don't belong ---
She's ninety-six and going strong.

What's good for you may poison me,
And that makes life's variety.
The point's apparent as a spike:
No two of us were made alike!

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Prior to the unanimous approval of an interim ordinance for hillside development in Carmel Valley, you afforded the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association considerable space in which to outline its position. You offered opponents equal space.

The fact that there were no letters in opposition tends to support the CVPOA position that the overwhelming majority of people who live here feel that some type of hillside development control is necessary.

We know that opinions vary as to how the problem should be solved. The CVPOA feels that the Slope Density Formula developed by William Spangle (paid for by the County and the CVPOA) is as good a study as can be found. We feel the final ordinance should use this study as its basis.

At any rate, now is the time to discuss, question and listen. We can't let anyone ram anything down our throats, and we can't accept anything whose full ramifications we don't understand.

All Carmel Valley property owners, whether or not members of the CVPOA, are invited to attend the CVPOA quarterly meeting at 8:00 P.M., August 28, 1969, at the Multi-Purpose Room, Tularcitos School, Ford Road. Ed DeMars, Monterey County Planning Director, will discuss the status of a permanent hillside ordinance and other matters pertaining to hillside development.

Please try to be there.

Sincerely,
ROY KAMINSKE
President

Dear Editor:

While visiting friends in the 100-degree heat recently the discussion turned to the lovely little birds that come buzzing around in the valley. We decided that some literary attempt should be made about these small creatures. They bring much enjoyment and they can be observed in a relatively easy manner.

THE HUMMINGBIRDS

In summer's humid heat the hummingbirds fly.
Seeking the shade of the old oak trees,
The little hummingbirds perch nearby.

Here in the valley they call Carmel,
We admire the beauty of the birds in flight.
Swiftly the colorful birds come to feed --
Their plumage creates a colorful sight.

To The Editor:

It was surprising to hear that the School, Community Center, and the Swimming Pool were considered to be "outside" of the Carmel Valley Village!

The petition that was passed around was misunderstood by many who signed it. ALL "commercial" property is in the "Village" area -- starting at Ford Road and ending at the Robles Road. All this property is very expensive and each owner should have the opportunity to develop his land to the best of its potential.

Every improvement will help all businesses in the Village as it will bring more shoppers into the area.

The U. S. Post Office Department is quite capable of choosing a site! If we start quibbling, they may move it entirely away from us!

Our Post Office was the first one in the Carmel Valley -- let us keep it in the Village at all costs, regardless of location!

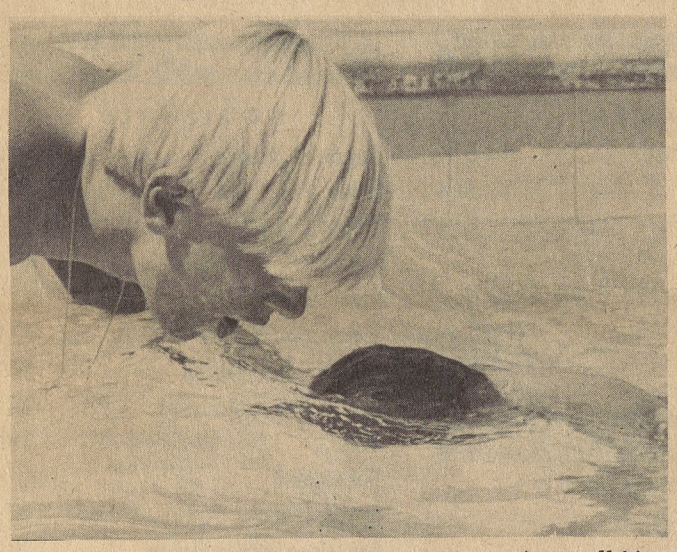
'Little People' learn to swim at Carmel Valley pool

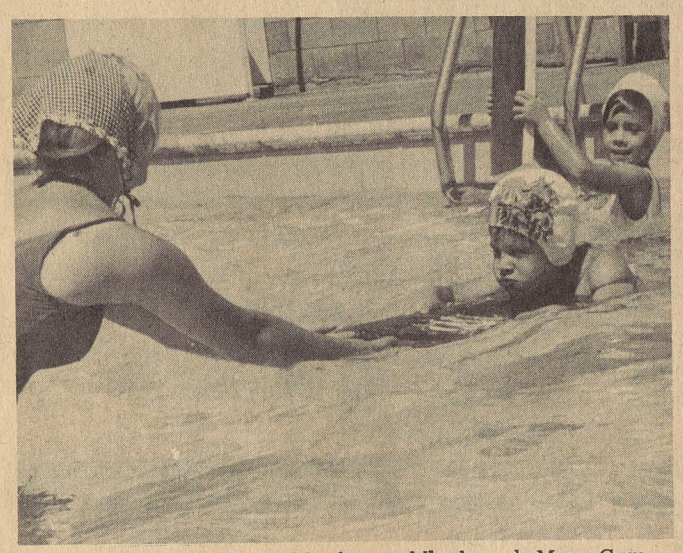
For those that find it hard to understand how the little people can learn to swim so well in such a short time, this is a brief outline of how it is done at the Carmel Valley Community pool. Beginning with the pre-schoolers, about five years old to the senior life-saving group, the pool humms with activity all day.

The swimming classes came to an end last Friday, with a big Jamboree for all those who participated.

1. The first thing is to teach the beginners to have confidence in their teachers. Here, Barbara (Murphy) Largent shows Stormie Hale that she need have no fear of the water.



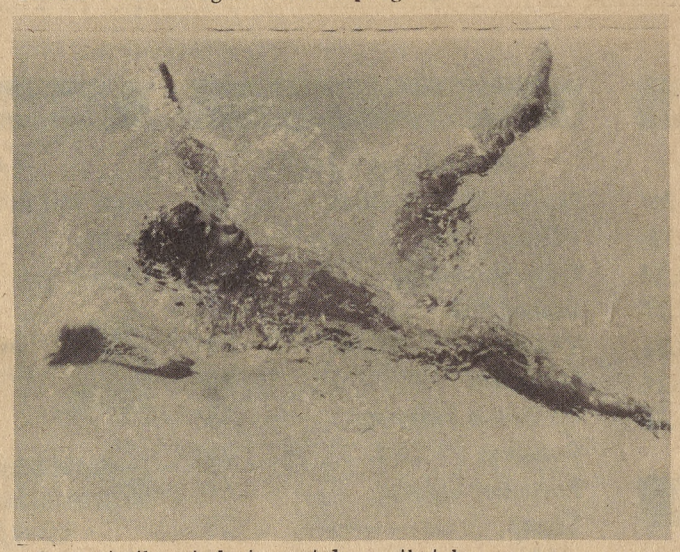
2. Next, Bob Kutchback teaches Gregg Rose to expell his breath under water.



3. Motion, with the aid of a paddle board. Mary Cummings coaxes Marsha Olsen out into the water while Kathy Brodrick hangs on tight to the ladder.

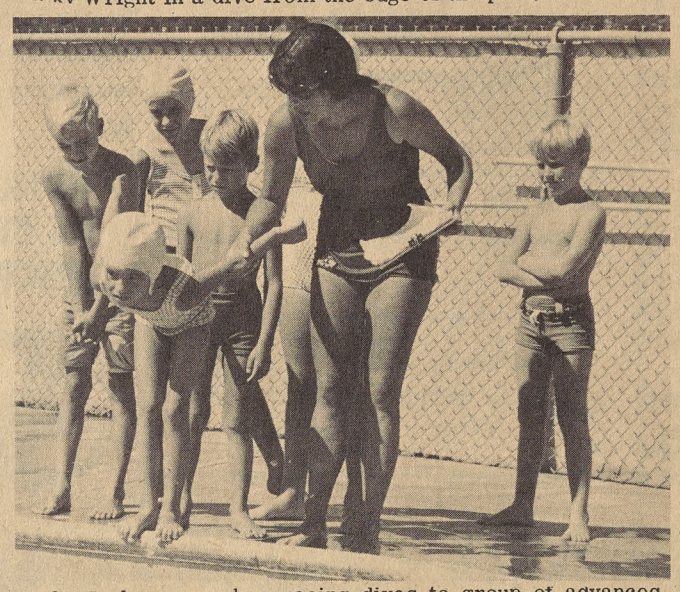
4. Mary yells, kick, kick, harder has Kim Parham churns the water.

5. Now without the paddle board, face under water, Elaine Bennet cheers Abigale Zober's progress.

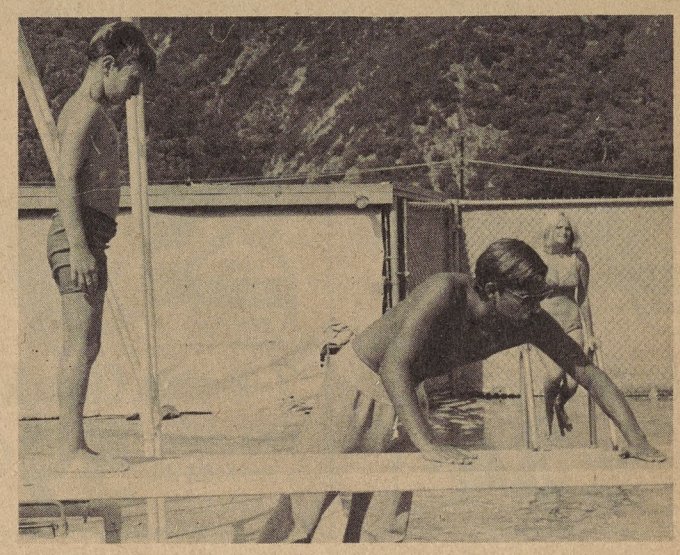


6. Next, the student must learn that he can assume any position while making progress. Lee Gayman does it with gusto if not class.

7. Now how to get into the water. Melinda Kick coaches Ricky Wright in a dive from the edge of the pool.

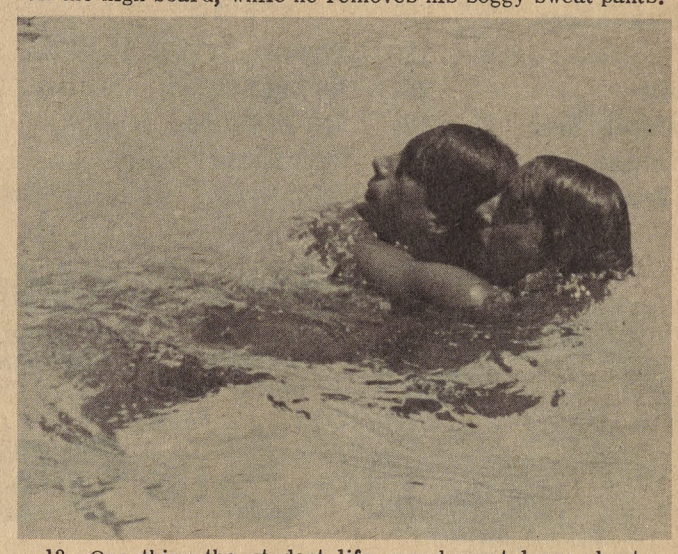


9. Barbara coaches racing dives to group of advanced beginners Ann Welborn, Danny Bussinger, Jeff Glassco, Stacy McFadden and Roy Kaminske.



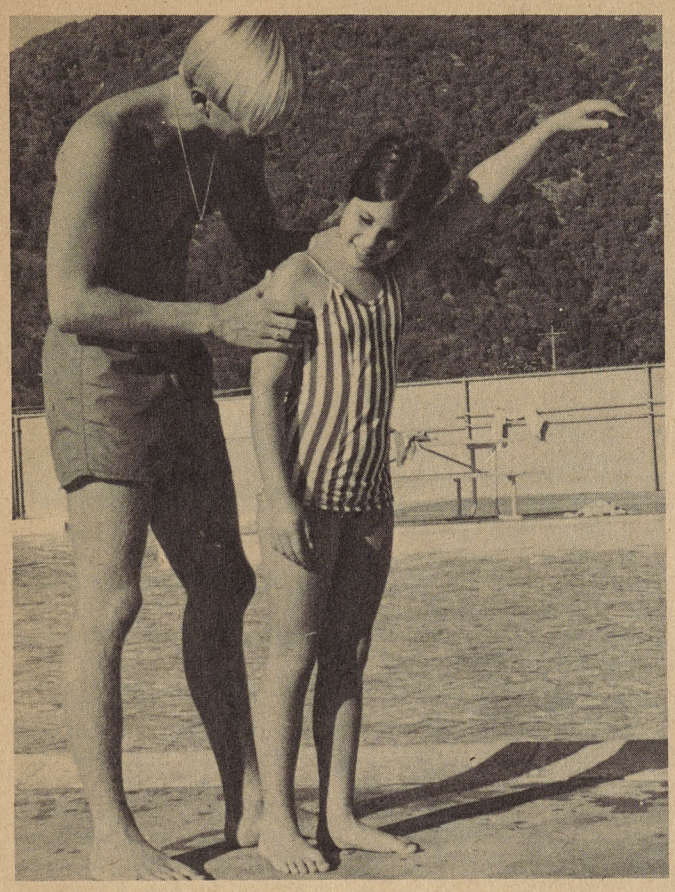
8. Diving instructor Pat McGivney paces out the strides on the two board for Andy Hazlett.

10. Pat again watches Tricia Collins make a first dive off the high board, while he removes his soggy sweat pants.



13. One thing the student life guard must learn about a drowning victim is that they are in panic, they might do anything, most often they grab the nearest part of the rescuer, quite often the head. Here Pat McGivney unexpectedly grabs Tom Bottaro from behind with a strangle hold; if Tom could not break the hold in a real rescue, both might drown.

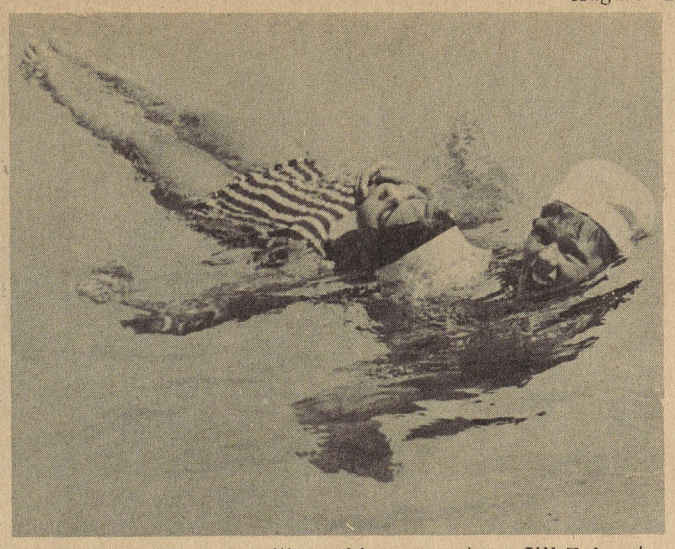
14. Tom, a real pro in the water, quickly breaks the hold and with a chin carry takes Pat to the edge of the pool.



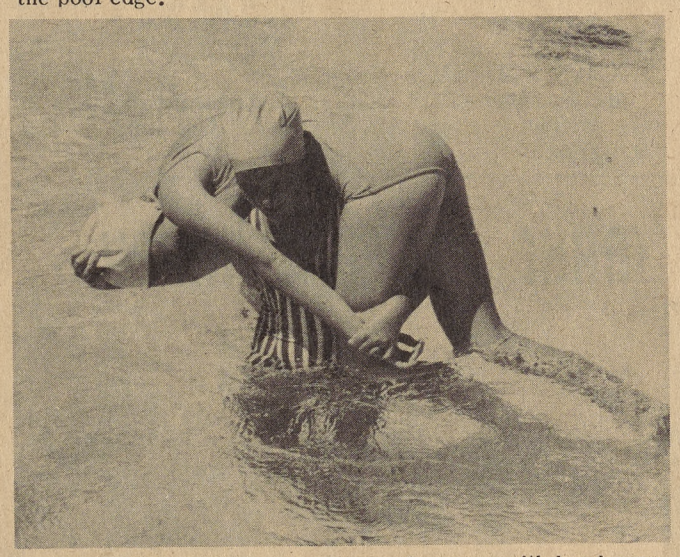
11. Next comes Junior life saving. Many strokes must be learned before a student can qualify for learning life saving. Bob Kutchback teaches Jill Zober the correct breathing position for the crawl stroke.

12. The first thing to learn in life saving is how to get in the water. This is not the most graceful way but it is the most efficient. In this manner the head rarely goes beneath the water, the life saver does not lose sight of the victim. Here Leslie Peterson executes an almost perfect water safety approach from the high board.

17. Becky Brock shows how the bouyancy of the water can aid the lifeguard in lifting a heavy victim to the edge of the pool. The victim is Leslie Peterson.

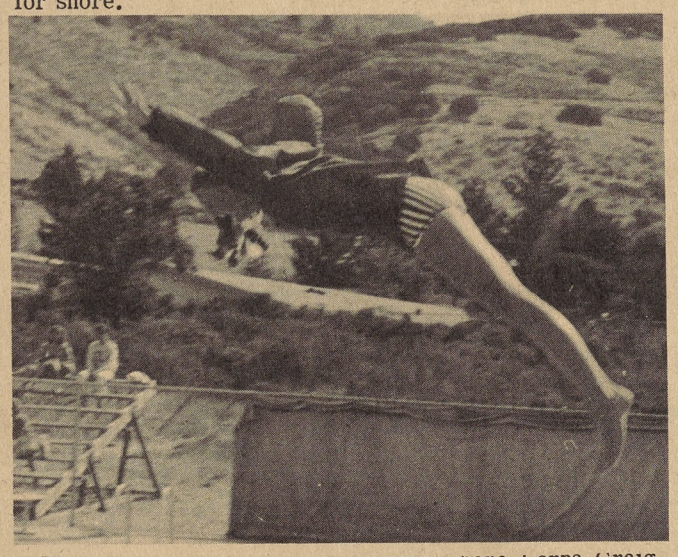


15. Cathy Blevins, with a chin carry, tows Jill Zober to the pool edge.



16. In shallow water the fireman's carry with head support is demonstrated by Alita Commer and Sally Ann Poulsen.

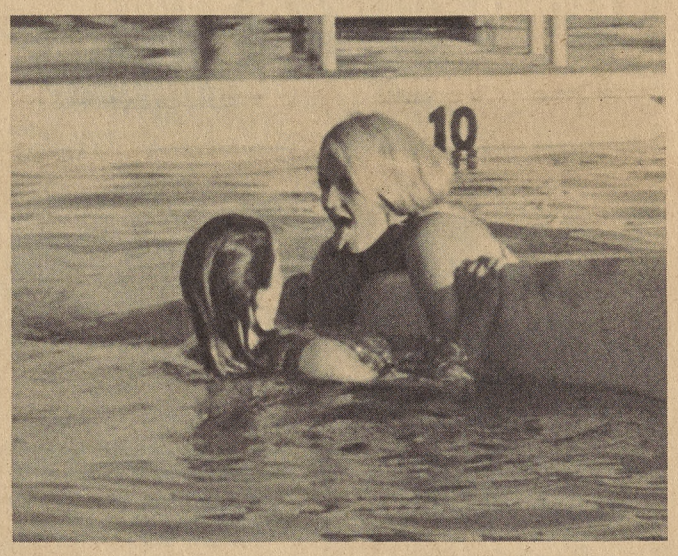
21. Safe at last, the two senior life saving students head for shore.



22. There's always some clowning, here Lorna Craig takes off from the low board in windbreaker and towel.

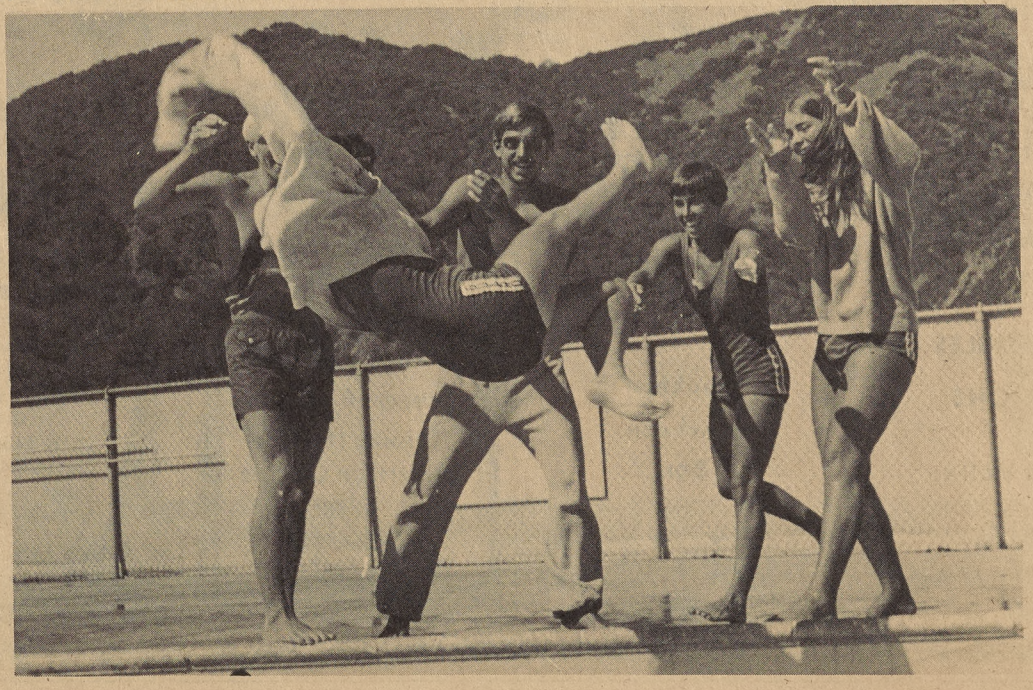
18. Once the victim is out of the water, no time can be lost in applying artificial respiration. Here, Jill Zober shows the position for mouth to mouth resuscitation. Cathy is the victim.

19. In waters far from shore, the surf board makes a good platform for the victim; here Pat shows the position for giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in case the victim is too far from shore and is not breathing. The victim, Karen Owen.



20. How to get a victim on a surfboard – it's easy if you know how. Karen Owen shows how the easy way. It doesn't look so easy for Melinda Dick.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY GEORGE T. C. SMITH



23. At the end of the training session the instructors see that Barbara Largent will remember her twenty third birthday which she celebrated last Friday. Throwing Barbara in are Bob Kutchback, Pat McGivney, Susie Lang and Elaine Bennet.

Bell, Book and Candle

The Presidio Players, under the sponsorship of the Presidio Service Club, are in rehearsal for the John Van Druten Comedy, "Bell, Book and Candle."

The play tells the story of a dissatisfied, modern-day witch who casts a spell over a young publisher, then falls in love with him herself. It is under the direction of Bob Marshall.

Derrie Roark is featured as "Gillian" the witch, a part which was created by Lili Palmer on Broadway, and starred Kim Novak in the movie version. Shep, who is caught in her spell, is played by Mike San Giovanni. Featured as Aunt Queenie, a flustered witch whose spells do not always work, is Vi Merino of Carmel. The part of Gillian's younger, hippy-type warlock brother, who is particularly adept at hexing telephones, is taken by Eldridge Roark. Ed Papantonio plays Mr. Redlich, a writer of books on witchcraft who fails to see Gillian, or any member of her family for what they are.

"Bell, Book and Candle" will be presented at the Tin Barn, Presidio of Monterey, at 8:30 on August 22 and 23, and at 7:30 on August 24. The following week-end it will move to Fort Ord, where it will be staged at Service Club No. 1 at 8:30 on August 29 and 30, and Service Club 2, August 31 at 7:30.

All members of the military complex and their guests are invited to attend this Special Services Acitivity free of charge.

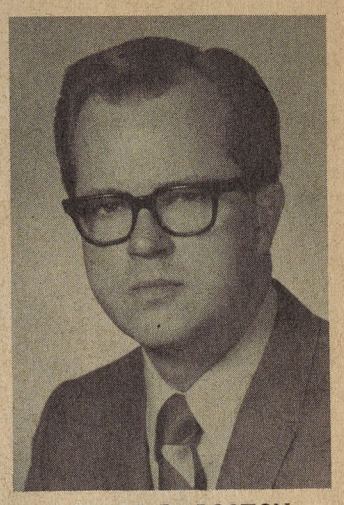
Burkert Cree to study in Europe for year

The Rev. Burkert Cree, since 1964 the first minister of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, has vacated his pastorate for a year's study in Europe. His area of concentration will be The Time of the Reformation.

Upon graduating from Earlham in 1957 he entered Harvard Divinity School in Cambridge, and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree in that interdenominational seminary in 1960.

Mr. Cree will join his wife Angelika and two sons Tobias and George who have been visiting her parent's home in Switzerland since May.

The Cree family intends to return from Europe next summer.



DONALD R. BOSTON

Boston named new Pacific Telephone manager here

Pacific Telephone today named Donald R. Boston as Monterey local manager.

He replaces Don C. Peters, who was promoted to the company's Public Relations headquarters in San Francisco.

Boston, who began his PT&T career in Watsonville in 1961, was Monterey assistant manager from 1965 to 1966. As manager here, he will now be responsible for subscribers' accounts in Monterey as well as Carmel Valley, Pacific Grove, Seaside and surrounding areas.

Boston's most recent PT&T assignment was in Fresno, where he held the position of unit manager. He has been active in many organizations, including the American Cancer Society, Boy Scouts of America, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Achievement and Rotary.

Boston plans to reside with his wife, Janet, and two children on the Monterey Peninsula.

Carmel High to have 5 new instructors

Five new teachers have been hired for the Carmel High School teaching staff this year.

Lowell C. Battcher will be teaching Industrial Arts. Mr. Battcher received his Bachelor of Arts degree and Master's degree from Fresno State College. For the past five years Mr. Battcher has taught in the Alta Loma High School.

Michael D. Casey, who has taught two years at Lincoln High School in Stockton, takes over as Art and Art & Crafts teacher this year. Mr. Casey received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Sacramento State College and has also done graduate work in Advanced Art there.

After completing her student teaching in Berkeley, Miss Sharon Elliott comes to the high school as Girls' Physical Education instructor. Miss Elliott graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

The new Biology teacher will be Howard P. Sanborn, who has an extensive background in his field. After gaining his Bachelor of Science degree at Colorado State University, Mr. Sanborn went to Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, for his Master's. He has done graduate study in radiation biology and marine biology at the University of Maryland, University of Washington, and Stanford University. His teaching experience includes Western Michigan University, Southern Oregon College, and Chabot College in Hayward.

Mrs. Eileen Woodington will be the new Girls' Counselor. Her Bachelor of Arts degree was received from San Francisco State College, as well as a Master's in Art. In addition, she received a Master of Science degree from the University of Oregon. Mrs. Woodington has taught in Palo Alto and was a counselor at the Monterey High School last year.

New students may now register at Middle School

Students new to Carmel Unified School District who will attend Carmel Middle School (Grades 6-7-8) may register between 9-12 and 1-4, Monday through Friday, beginning today at Middle School.

This includes all seventh and eighth graders new to the District and those sixth graders residing in the lower Valley and town areas.

Registration and Orientation schedule

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

Registration begins on August 20 and continues through the 29th. The office is open from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. daily. Only new students need register.

Orientation for new students will be on Tuesday, September 2. Classes begin on Thursday, September 4.

CARMEL MIDDLE SCHOOL

Enrollment will begin on August 20, from 9:00 to 12:00 Noon and from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Only new students need register.

School opens on September 4, as do all schools in the Carmel Unified School District.

CARMELO SCHOOL

Enrollment for new students began on Monday, August 18, and continues until school starts on September 4. The school secretary will be on duty from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily.

TULARCITOS SCHOOL

New students can enroll anytime after August 20. Classes will, of course, begin on September 4.

Teacher Aides added to Tularcitos School staff

The new facilities at Tularcitos, which were opened last March, are now completed except for finishing touches. George Gustafson, principal, says they are now awaiting funds to plant around the Science area.

One additional teacher, Tim Stevens, has been hired to teach in the upper grades. Mr. Stevens will have the mathematics and reading classes, as well as coordination of the physical education program.

In addition, Tularcitos will have teacher aides on duty for the coming year. Those women serving in this capacity are Judy Gayman, Chris Gibson and Phyllis Grissim for Kindergarten and Primary; Grace Evans, Nancy Frye and another person not yet hired for Second Grade; Gloria Gooddell, Patsy Martin and Sharon for Third Grade; and Dot Luce for the Upper Grades.

Carmelo teachers prepare for opening

Beginning last Monday, the Carmelo teaching staff began a special two-week workshop. According to Philip Smith, principal, the workshop is primarily concerned with preparing materials for individualization in this year's teaching program.

Mrs. Marion Graham is a new member of the Carmelo teaching staff. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of California, Berkeley, and her Master's degree from San Jose State. Her experience also includes the Laboratory School at the University of Chicago, and her internteaching was done at Greenfield Elementary School.

Carmelo has two teaching teams – the Alpha Team and the Beta Team. Patrick Allan will be full-time on the Beta Team this year, along with Mrs. Graham.

Mr. Smith suffered a back injury during summer vacation, and his activities will be somewhat limited during the first term.

8 NEW TEACHERS JOIN MIDDLE SCHOOL STAFF

Eight new teachers will join the Carmel Middle School Staff this year.

Mrs. Barbara B. Clement, from Honolulu, will be a counselor. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Millikin University in Decatur Illinois, and her Master of Art degree at the University of Hawaii. Her experience includes schools in Port Hueneme, California, Germany, New Jersey, and Honolulu.

Another new counselor will be Richard A. Costa, also from Honolulu. After receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree from Providence College in Rhode Island, Mr. Costa went to the University of Hawaii to study for his Master's. His teaching experience has been in the Honolulu and Central Oahu School Districts.

The new Language Arts teacher will be Miss Eleanora Davoli, who comes from New Jersey. Miss Davoli received both her Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Pittsburgh in Pennsylvania. She has taught in Pennsylvania, Venezuela, and New Jersey.

Miss Valine Jensen is the new librarian at Middle School. She studied at Utah State University in Logan for her Bachelor of Arts degree, and went on to Brigham Young University in Provo for her Master's in Library Science. Miss Jensen has been librarian at Ceres High School and the Salinas Public Library.

Perry B. Nelson will be the Industrial Arts teacher for the coming year. Mr. Nelson received both a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Science degree from San Jose State College. He has taught in the Campbell Union School District and at San Jose State College.

The new Mathematics teacher is Bruce L. Stannard. Graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree from California Western University, San Diego, Mr. Stannard has completed his student teaching in the San Diego Unified School District.

Miss Susan Voris will be teaching Social Studies and Physical Education. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from San Jose State College and completed her student teaching in the Moreland School District, San Jose.

Teaching Spanish and French will be Mrs. Nancy Woodward. After receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of California, Berkeley, Mrs. Woodward obtained her Master's at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies. Previously, she has taught in Boonville, San Lorenzo, Hollister, and Pacific Grove.

Richard A. Zury was employed last year on a one-year only contract, as a replacement Driver Education teacher for Dick Lawaizke who was on sabbatical leave. Mr. Zury has been assigned as a Physical Education and Science teacher for the 1969-1970 school year.

Seven grades to be offered at All Saints' Day School

Classes at the All Saints' Episcopal Day School will begin on Thursday, September 4 – the same date as the public schools in the area. Students at the co-educational parochial school are enrolled throughout the summer.

According to Father Peter Farmer, headmaster, this is the first year that the school has offered seventh grade. Approximately 80 boys and girls are enrolled. The students come from Carmel, Carmel Valley, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Pebble Beach and Seaside.

Bus service is provided for the students. Two years ago, the Mother's Club purchased the school bus with Blue Chip Stamps. Father Farmer says the club still saves stamps for future purchases.

Miss Evelyn Smith, a former teacher at All Saints, has returned this year. She has been doing some extra study and individual instruction. One new staff member has been hired. He is J.K. Roudebush, who has been teaching at Robert Louis Stevenson. Miss Smith and Mrs. Roudebush will both teach in grades 4 through 7.

Middle School installs new 'Mod-Cycle' class schedule

Carmel Middle School this coming year will consist of grades 6-7-8. The fifth grade, with us for four years, will be back in the now K-5 elementary schools. This was done because of overcrowding at Middle School and it is our hope that we will, someday have our fifth graders back with us.

With the elimination of our fifth grade it gave us the opportunity to revamp our schedule and include some innovations we had been considering for the past two years.

For lack of a better name we will call our new schedule a Mod-Cycle Schedule as it retains most of the features of our previous cycle schedule ("A-F" days) and incorporates a new flexible modular schedule of twenty-one twenty minute modules. A modular schedule such as this allows us to more readily and proportionately distribute the amount of relative emphasis on each discipline rather than a straight forty minute period for every subject. Some of the features of the schedule are:

(1) No passing bells except for beginning school and noon periods, which, we hope, will create a calmer campus.

(2) Extension of our previous double periods on a cycle in science, arts-crafts, home economics and industrial arts to include physical education and social science.

(3) An extra module added to English to give us a sixty minute (three modules) daily-language arts period. In addition, those students needing help in reading, will get another forty minute period in developmental reading taught by a reading specialist. The language arts team consisting of eight teachers will be housed in the two "D-Wing complexes" which have movable walls and will set up a language-arts center capable of meeting the individual needs of students. Large and small group instruction will be possible along with non-graded achievement grouping in the seventh and eighth grades. All six of our sixth grade language arts sections will meet during the same three period time modules allowing six levels of achievement grouping within that grade level.

(4) A special consultation period of two modules that we will use for individual or small groups of students who need additional assistance. This consultation period is the first period in the morning and consultations can be student, parent or teacher initiated.

As in the past, the proposed Middle School schedule is still designed with a two-fold mission; that of individualizing instruction as much as possible, and preparing our students for high school. Our philosophy is, and was, that teachers do a better job teaching their speciality and that 6th graders profit from special services and/or facilities in science, art, crafts, physical education, and foreign language.

We have just completed four years as a Middle School with a schedule that we tried to refine each year to better fit the needs of our students. This year's graduating class with about half of the class completing four years here at Middle School was the best class academically, and provided more leadership than any other graduation class in Middle School history. It was gratifying to see, finally, with this class, a development of school spirit and a feeling that "This is our School." We had been working hard to do this with our after school programs, our student council, and our constant efforts to involve students in decisions affecting them. Our school yearbook was the best ever this year and we also published a special issue of our school newspaper "The Windjammer" that was outstanding.

All in all last year was a good year and with a new schedule we are anticipating an even better one in 1969-70.

Swim Jamboree completes summer pool program

The Swim Jamboree, a windup of the second session of lessons at the Community Pool, was held Friday morning. Ken White, manager of both the Valley and Carmel High School pools served as master of ceremonies. He had high praise for his staff of instructors.

Said White, "Having observed instruction in pools throughout the area, I feel that the Carmel Swim program has the finest group of teachers that could be gathered. They are hired to do a job and they do it well. They spend alot of time thinking about your child as an individual." He introduced his staff including Mrs. Mike (Barbara) Largent, Susie Lang, Elaine Bennett, Bob Kuchbach, Pat McGibney, Jim Fosnot, and a new face this session who was donating her time, Mrs. Dick (Ginnie) Bliss.

A series of relays followed giving every child an opportunity to show how their skills have improved over the summer months. And to collect a red, white or blue ribbon. Pat McGibney, diving instructor, gave exhibitions of divers from each of his classes. Among the Beginners in their first year of instruction were Sharon Rhoades, Michelle Furmanski, Mike McFadden, Jenny Mink, Sean Sweiss, Jeff Mink and Kathy Lockwood.

Intermediate divers were Kim Neill, Aleta Commer, Casey Clowers, and Mike Wellborn. The final group were from the Diving Team which recently captured the silver trophy for the fifth straight year of Tri-County competition. Dives were made by Sandi Sweiss, Rogue Hattan, Blair Craig, Jim Dickenson, Shane Hattan and Heidi Hattan.

Pat McGibney is also the instructor of Junior Life Saving. With Ken White he stressed that the American Red Cross program has been revamped with instruction aimed more at "self safety and elementary rescue."

Certificates for completion of 15 hours were awarded to Robert Woods, Aleta Coomer, Shepherd Peterson, Laurie Harris, Peter Neilsen, Mike Brock, Raylene Cal, Kathy Blevens, Kim May, Becki Brock, Marci Cal, Jill Zoeger, Sherri Sweiss, Sally Poulson and Leslie Peterson.

Outstanding award of the Jamboree was a CHOCOLATE CAKE presented to Harry Baker for meritorious service! The Holman Road resident, a greatgrandfather and favorite of staff and swimmers alike, made three trips a day to the pool to check equipment. (A law states that a pool must be checked for chlorine content every two hours that the pool is in use.) Although swim lessons are now at an end, recreational swim will continue daily until school starts. Weather permitting the pool will remain open weekends through September and possibly October.

IRENE BALDWIN PART OF VALLEY TRADITION...

By BONNIE WELLER

In the center of our picturesque village, Irene Baldwin has her realty office--and, more recently, her home.

Walking into her neatly-arranged office, my eyes took a moment to adapt because of the bright early-afternoon sun. But, as soon as I asked for Mrs. Baldwin, my gaze was drawn to the handsome woman at the back desk. Her immense dignity suggested someone who would always find a solution for every crisis.

Seating myself across the desk from her, I felt a moment of unease. Until she leveled steady, hazel eyes at me and said disarmingly, "I can't imagine why anyone would want to do a story on me--I haven't done anything interesting to other people."

"You must have," I answered, "or my boss wouldn't have asked me to interview you. And my husband has mentioned you many times..."

At this remark, her face lit up with an amiable smile. "Come with me," she suggested, rising. And she led the way through the back door of the office onto a cheery patio decked with flowers.

An Australian shepherd greeted us, tail wagging happily. "No, Paloma," Mrs. Baldwin said, giving him a pat on the head. "You stay here." Although she is a large woman, her step is brisk and her carriage erect.

"The apartment was just completed two weeks ago," she explained, opening the door.

And what a lovely surprise! We stepped into the cool interior, and I glanced around, admiringly. Powder-blue walls and built-ins on two walls...blue carpeting--accented by a garnet-red velvet Victorian sofa, antique-velvet chairs in blue with colorful creweling on the backs, marble-topped tables, many books and Chinese dolls in the shelves.

"My granddaughters are spending the summer with me," Mrs. Baldwin continued, pushing back louvered panels which revealed an efficiency kitchenette with every convenience. "I see they left a sandwich for me. Do you mind if I eat while we talk?"

"Not at all," I assured her. It was almost two o'clock--past lunch-time.

At the counter in the living room, she poured coffee for us. "Here," she said, setting the fragile flowered-china cup and saucer on the round table between us.

"The Valley has been very, very good to me," she said, picking up half of the sandwich. "I am really past the stage where my activities are anything to talk about at all-but I've enjoyed every minute of my time here. The background is so terrific."

We chatted about the apartment, which she's just moved into this month. It is beautifully designed, and the opulent furnishings befit Irene Baldwin's commanding personality. Previously, she lived in her home up on Flight Road, between Holman and Poppy Roads.

"I've known the contractor since he was a little boy--Richard McKenzie." she continued. "No matter what I wanted, he said it was no trouble--and built it." Her earnest tone was almost professional.

At that moment, a young girl came through the door behind us. Smiling, Mrs. Baldwin greeted her and introduced us. "This is my granddaughter, Jody Lucas. Her twin sister, Toni, isn't feeling well today."

Jody has a fresh-faced prettiness about her and was very poised in our presence. Mrs. Baldwin returned her plate to the kitchenette and asked me to join her in the garden-room. We settled ourselves comfortably in caned chairs at the round dining table under the glass roof. Carnations happen to be my favorite flower, and the faint fragrance from a bouquet of red and white ones centered on the table enhanced the pleasant atmosphere. Jody sat down in a chair on the opposite end of the room, obviously interested in her grandmother's story.

"The twins come out every summer and stay with me until school starts," Mrs. Baldwin said. "They get away from the heat in Yuma, Arizona. And they have friends in the Valley."

The twins' mother is Betty Lucas, the only child of Mrs. Baldwin. I asked if there were any other grandchildren.

"Yes," Mrs. Baldwin told me, "Betty's oldest daughter, Judy Lewis was here this week, with her two little babies--three years and one year--both boys. My great grandchildren," she added. Her unlined face was merry now.

When I expressed surprise, Mrs. Baldwin said she will soon be seventy. The passage of time has been kind to her--in a shaft of sunlight, her round face and searching hazel eyes reflected womanly strength. But brittle sophistication is not her style.

"Jody brought her horse this year," her grandmother said, gazing fondly at the fifteen-year-old girl.

"I brought her to show here in the Valley," Jody contributed, enthusiasm lighting her eyes.

"They go to the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club with Sally Bennett's girls... Toni's had the flu." Mrs. Baldwin turned again to her granddaughter. "Jody, would you get Margie's scrapbook?"

"Sure!" Blonde hair bobbing back-and-forth, Jody went into the living room.

"We came out here in 1931," Mrs. Baldwin said, in answer to my question. "There wasn't much out here but poison oak and us. Sam and I brought our daughter, Betty. She had to have a horse, like the others." Her voice was indulgent and tender.

"Here it is, Grandma." Judy laid a pink album, silk-covered, in Mrs. Baldwin's hands. "We found it," Judy said, with an impish grin, "when Toni and I looked at Grandma's pictures the other night."

"The development in Carmel Valley was just at its beginning when we came," Mrs. Baldwin began, opening the scrapbook. "I made this for my sister, Margie Ibsen, when she lived in New Mexico. She was librarian here in the Valley for many years."

On the first page is a magnificent shot of the Valley, with this original poem of Mrs. Baldwin's typed underneath:

We lift our eyes unto the hills
Unto their sunny slopes,
Or unto their peaks so rarely capped with snow.
And in our hearts,
Surpassing all – comes Peace.
There is no better place to live,
No better place to go.

"We had the first post office," Mrs. Baldwin turned the page and pointed to a picture. "That's Rosie and the new postmaster – and this is my husband, Sam Yates Baldwin, and me. The post office used to be at Rosie's Cracker Barrel."

In those days, Mrs. Baldwin told me, the Valley was called Robles del Rio, California. When the new post office was built in its present location, the name was changed to Carmel Valley. "Which we had to admit was more appropriate," Mrs. Baldwin said, "even though we hated to change."

"In the last twenty years," Irene said, "since the post office was first moved, there has been animated discussion about where it should be, how big it should be, and so on. Now, it's started all over....And with it, the discussion of where the road should be. People have been upset for years about the road, work on the road, and where it should be...."

We looked at the many pictures of highlights in the Valley's history – the California Centennial in 1949, with a gay Fiesta in the Valley; the building of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel; barbecues, fashion shows, hayrides, and Betty's wedding. Lots of local color....And Irene's spirited stories of these events show her zest for life. She wrote a rollicking poem about the building of the first church, but doesn't want it published. In fact, she was reluctant to relinquish the scrapbook, but Jody coaxed her very winningly. So, we're going to let you peek at some of the pictures and comments. The rich texture of Irene's life as a Valley lady is worth sharing.

When she closed the book, I looked up at the cranberry crystal chandelier above the table. Prisms of sunlight played upon it. In the living room, there is another crystal chandelier.

"When we came out," Irene said, with a touching inflection, "Sam was interested in the whole Valley. He was in insurance." Smoothing her dress, she switched to a humorous tone again. "When I told him I wanted to go into real estate, he said, 'Well, you don't like to keep house – you might as well do something!'" It is evident that Sam was a sterling husband.

That was the beginning of Irene Baldwin's successful career as a realtor. She recalls that the first house she sold was in Hitchcock Canyon – for eight hundred dollars.

"The cottage had roses all around it," Irene says, her eyes faraway. "The prospective buyer was a young man who had to borrow money from his mother...." Now, she laughs, remembering. "When he came back to the office, I grabbed him by the lapels and asked, 'Did you get it?' – meaning the money, of course."

I laughed, too, at the picture she'd conjured up, and wanted her to go on with the story.

"Later, she recalled, "Sam told me that this was not the proper tactic to use on clients....Anyway, the two little old ladies – Louise Conger and her sister, Helena Heron – signed the long contract-of-sale by the light of a lantern on a barrel. Mrs. Heron was the wife of the former mayor of Carmel."

Mrs. Baldwin's commission on that first sale was five per cent – or forty dollars. "On the way home, " she says, "I decided I should have a desk for such big business...."

Then, there was the year that Irene found three bodies and considered writing a book. She'd decided on a title, "The Dead of Winter," but somehow never got around to doing it. (I think she could, judging from the collage of memories in her scrapbook and her tongue-in-cheek commentary.)

Her husband, Sam, was sometimes annoyed by her erratic schedule. "Every time I have to cook bacon and eggs," he said, one night when she arrived home late, "I know you've found someone else dead." And he asked if she would please leave a note thereafter. Sam and Irene never housed their businesses under the same roof.

One night, a man stopped with his acutely-ill wife in the car, at Rosie's Cracker Barrel – the general store which is still operating in Robles del Rio. He asked Irene to accompany them to the hospital. Climbing into the automobile, she thought of her promise to Sam and called out to a small boy nearby, "Tell Sam this man is taking me to the hospital!" Needless to say, poor Sam was more than a little perturbed when he could not locate his wife.

We talked too, or Irene's girlhood. She is of Norwegian parentage – and with that revelation, many things came clear to me. Irene's early years were spent on the Ibsen farm in Iowa.

"I love to have people in – and I love to cook," she says, with a look of dismay. "I must get on a diet routine, now that this move is over."

When I asked if the playwright, Henrik Ibsen, was related – she replied that he was a "shirt-tail relation."

A couple of telephone calls had interrupted our dialogue. And now someone was in the office to see her. But Irene graciously offered to show me the rest of her apartment.

Toni, who had stayed out of sight, was in her grandmother's bedroom. The twins are not identical, Toni appearing shy and dainty, more fragile than bubbly Jody. Of course, Toni was recuperating from an illness.

Irene's bedroom is furnished elegantly with mellow old pieces – and a beautifully carved bed. An oil portrait of her granddaughter, Judy, hangs on one wall. The door opens into a powdery-pink dressing room – with the bathroom beyond.

"The twins have the other bedroom, with their own TV – so we have our privacy. They're good kids – otherwise I couldn't do it," she remarked.

On the way back to her office, Irene said to me, "I owe my eternal gratitude to all the firemen who handle all Valley matters so efficiently and humanely. In my business, I'm always running into difficult problems. The firemen do such a superb job of comforting and caring for people." She motioned me through the door, adding, "They're so compassionate – the way they handle the troubles of the Valley."

Inside her office, Mrs. Baldwin quickly resumed her business role. And we exchanged good-byes.

Irene Baldwin exhibits the natural resilience of the Scandinavian woman. Vikings are tough as nails, if the occasion demands, and imminently beneficent to all who are deserving. Irene is nobody's fool – she knows the good guys from the bad guys. And I expect she'll be around quite a few more years to kibitz Valley affairs.

AND THEN, it was "in 1949 that the Valley celebrated the California Centennial with a Fiesta. A full-scale of activities was scheduled throughout June 5... the above picture depicts the epitome of suppressed desire. I always wanted to wear plumes and feathers. That's Sid Williams with me...'

Both photos on this page were taken by George T. C. Smith (many years ago).

IT WAS MANY YEARS AGO..."in this picture, you see the outgoing Postmaster (Rosie Henry) handing to Norman Marshall, the incoming postmaster, the flag".

A meeting of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee is scheduled for Friday, August 22, at 8:30 a.m. in the Community Center. According to Doyt Early, there will be a limited agenda: a use permit for a guest house requested by Paul Porter, and a design approval for painting a house at the Quinn Tractor Company, Carmelo Rancho.

Donkey baseball game was more hilarious than ever

From the firemen's description, the Donkey Baseball Game at the Little League Field last Sunday was a riot. "You should've been there," "Chip" Collins said. And he called Raz Belleci from the back of the Fire-House to tell me all about the game.

"We thought donkey baseball was getting a little repetitious," Raz said, warming up to his subject. "So, ten of us dressed up a Volkswagen as the Lovebug – sun glasses and all, and drove it out in the center of the field." The ten men were Raz Belleci, Larry Busick, Chip Collins, Bill Conlan, Larry Cummings, Ken Van Hagen, Art Harber, Garry Paddock, George Palmer and Bill Parham.

Wearing their "turn-out gear" (which is a fire-resistant coverall) and comical hats, the group climbed out of the Lovebug one-by-one to the delight of spectators.

"In the middle of the game," Raz continued, "we lit a smokebomb.....We had a fire-truck come down to put the fire out." The fellows standing around listening to Raz's account laughed raucously at this part. "Chief Collins," Raz said, pointing his finger at Chip, "was in the way, so they doused him!"

Then Chip contributed his bit. "We had a stretcher rigged up with a rip down the center," he said. "Raz got kicked by the jackass, and we laid him on the stretcher. Larry Busick, Ken Van Hagen, Larry Cummings, and I administered first aid. But when we lifted the stretcher, with Raz on it, he fell right through!"

In the Jackass Derby, all the riders try to get the donkeys in center field and rush them to home place. "Mel Tavares won," Raz told me. "He's the Champion Jackass of 1969".

"At one point in the game, Mel Tavares got a little confused," Raz continued. "Instead of jumping on the donkey, he picked up the donkey by its front legs and walked him to first base." Another disappointment was that the firemen's water-filled balloons wouldn't burst!

After "repeated harrassment by the Lion's Club," the firemen's team tied them with a score of 3 to 3. Chief Collins said about 200 people came to the game. "Not as good a turnout as usual," he added. BWW

Free Forest Theatre program features dancer La Mariquita

Next Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. the Carmel Cultural Commission will present Mariquita, world famous Spanish dancer and Juanito, guitar virtuoso, at the Forest Theatre, Mountain View and Santa Rita, Carmel. This is the eighth program of the 1969 Free Summer Sunday Afternoon Concert Series under the management of Cole Weston.

La Mariquita, one of today's true exponents of Spanish dance, has starred on television, as well as in numerous operas, fiestas, and night club appearances, both in the United States and Spain. Her "grace and precise and elaborate footwork" and her "Talking Castanets" have been widely admired.

Juanito, fifth generation descendent of the Guttierez family of Monterey, California, has recently returned from a performing and study tour of Spain. He is remembered on the Peninsula for his performances at the Forest Theatre and the Merienda Fiesta of Monterey.

The last exhibition at the Carmel gallery of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art will be on display during the month of September. On October 1st the Museum will relocate in Monterey at 559 Pacific. This final exhibit will feature paintings and drawings by John DeVincenzi and blown-glass by Dr. Robert Fritz. Both are Professors of Art at San Jose State College.

DeVincenzi is currently serving as Art Chairman of the San Jose Fine Arts Commission, was active in the formation of Santa Clara Valley's Coordinating Arts Council, and has served three times as President of the San Jose Art League. His exhibit will include watercolors, oils, and graphics.

Dr. Fritz has been represented in all of the major glass exhibitions in the United States. He has had a number of one-man shows in California, and his work has been shown in national invitational exhibits in Texas, Boston, and with California Design 10. He teaches both glass-blowing and ceramics, and his exhibit will include works in both media.

The exhibit will be open to the public from September 1 through 27 at the Museum's present location on Lincoln Street in Carmel. Gallery hours are from 11-5 Monday through Friday and from 2-5 Saturdays.

No exhibits have been scheduled in the new Museum for the remainder of 1969 while the first phase of the necessary remodeling is being completed. The official opening of the new facility, the former County Building located across the street from Colton Hall, California's first capital, will be early in 1970. The opening show will be the 6th Annual Monterey County Painting Competition.

The Museum has planned this move to better serve the entire county through the centralization of location, enlargement of exhibition areas, and inclusion of space for workshops and classrooms. Though no monthly exhibits will be hung this year, workshops, lectures, and other educational programs will be held, the Museum office will be open, and the Permanent Collection will be on view daily in it's own gallery area.

Kick-off Rally for Carmel High Sunday

A kick-off rally for all Carmel High athletes, their coaches, and the song and cheer leaders will be held this Sunday, starting at 6 p.m. A brief meeting, outlining the school athletic year, will be held in the Parish Hall of All Saint's Church followed by a "bring your own food picnic" at the 13th St. beach. This first time event is sponsored by the Carmel Boosters. New president, Dick Bennett, urges all those in the Carmel and Carmel Valley Community interested in athletics to come and meet the coaches, the athletes and their families.

MPC to open Sept. 10

Registration for daytime students at Monterey Peninsula College is by appointment only. Orientation Day is slated for Monday, September 8. And classes will be resumed on Wednesday, September 10.

Two more placement tests will be given – one on Saturday, August 23, at 8:30 a.m., and the other on Tuesday, September 2, at 6:30 p.m. Both sessions will be held in Lecture-Forum 103. Persons taing the test should bring a No. 2 pencil.

Recommend 4-lane extension of Rio Road to Carmel Valley Road

Carmel Valley may have an alternate and improved access road to Carmel and Highway 1 if the board of supervisors approve a mile-long extension to Rio Road.

Plan lines for such a road, to be 84 feet wide with 4 lanes of traffic, were approved last week by the Monterey County Planning Commission.

The road would extend northeast from its present terminus near Val Verde Road to intersect with Carmel Valley Road just to the east of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

Such a road is necessary, the planners decided, in view of the projected development of both commercial and residential sites in the lower valley. It would also provide for a better access to Highway 1 for traffic to and from the south Carmel area, and Highway 1 traffic to and from the south.

A recent change in traffic control makes it necessary for all Carmel Valley traffic to south Carmel or south on Highway 1 to turn off at Carmel Rancho Blvd., through the shopping center there and then on to the existing Rio Road.

Planners agreed that this was not a long-range solution to the increasing traffic to and from Carmel Valley.

The wider road was opposed by the developers of the Riverwood Condominium project, who indicated it would reduce the land available for two large housing projects planned by Carmel Rancho, Inc. They had indicated a 60-ft. width would be adequate.

The developers have been allowed 140 units on their 15-acre Riverwood project on the north bank of the Carmel River. Under this recommendation, the project would be allowed 8 units per acre on the easterly one third, and 10 units on the remainder. The supervisors will make the final decision.

The planners indicated that the higher density allowed in this area would provide a transition between the lower valley area and the one-acre and larger homesites further up the valley.

New zoning ordinance to be discussed at CVPOA meeting

A large crowd is expected to attend a special meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Assn. when it meets next Thursday, August 28, at the multi-purpose room of Tularcitos School at 8 p.m.

County Planning Director Ed DeMars will be on hand to discuss problems relating to the planned development of Carmel Valley.

Specifically he is expected to discuss a permanent zoning ordinance to replace the existing 90-day interim ordinance on slope density.

Other officials expected to be present include County Supervisor Willard T. Branson, and Planning Commissioners Ed Marcucci and Keith Evans.

Roy Kaminske, president of CVPOA, said that the public as well as members are invited to attend the meeting.

$300,000 Endurance Race at Laguna Seca this weekend

Laguna Seca Raceway's Aug. 23-24 Trans-American Sedan Championship run -- a grueling 225-mile endurance test over 119 twisting laps -- looms as the most crucial stop of the popular, 12 race, $300,000 manufacturer's series.

If Ford, led by former Indy-500 winner Parnelli Jones in a factory-backed Mustang, is to remain in the running for the 1969 title, it must stop the Chevrolet Camaro victory parade of defending champion Mark Donohue.

Donohue romped to his third straight victory last Sunday at Watkins Glen, N.Y., averaging 107.33 miles-an-hour in a Roger Penski-prepared Sunoco Camaro.

A win at Laguna Seca for Donohue or teammate Ed Leslie of Monterey would give Chevrolet a lead that could be overcome only by Ford victories in the last three races of the series at Riverside, Sears Point and Kent, Wash.

American Motors Javelins and Pontiac Firebirds round out Trans-Am competition while factory supported BMW's, Alfa Romeos and Porsches compete in the under-2-liter class.

At stake is much more than the title in the $300,000 series -- for racing performance is certain to sway the auto-hungry public which spends millions of dollars at dealerships across the nation.

Trans-Am drivers include some of the best in the business: George Follmer, Horst Kwech, Peter Revson, Lothar Motschenbacher, Ron Grable, Ronnie Buckman, Sam Posey, Jerry Titus and many others.

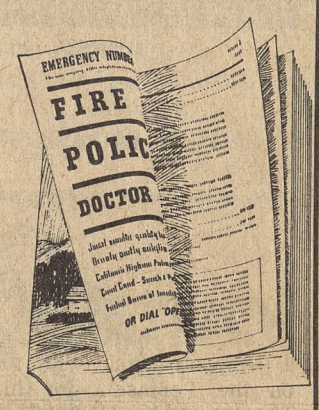
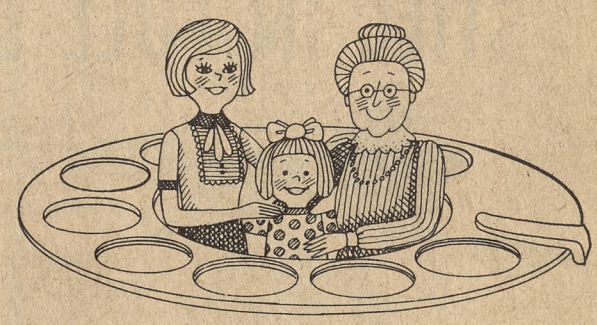
What's doing?



If an emergency arises, you want to contact the help you need the fastest way possible. So here's a reminder about a convenience that's right on the inside front cover of your telephone book. There you'll find spaces for filling in important numbers such as the Fire Department, the Police, and your doctor. If you take a few seconds to write them down, they could save valuable time when it counts—because the fastest way to get help is to dial direct. Of course, if there's some reason you can't, just dial "0" for Operator. She's there to help.



"We are nearing completion of the building addition at our Marina Central Office. This construction will double the present building size and will allow us to increase our equipment capacity to serve the increasing demand for telephones in that area."

It may surprise you to learn that gophers are a subject of serious study for telephone scientists. Because of the rapid growth rate of their front teeth, gophers have an inborn tendency to chew—which keeps the incisors worn down to manageable lengths. Unfortunately, telephone cable provides them with ideal fare for dental health.

Studies show that these game little fellows will not only chew through plastic coatings on buried cable but also through soft metals like aluminum and lead. Phone scientists are continually testing new types of cable protection that will prove impervious to these persistent underground diners.

Do you remember....

ONE YEAR AGO:

The Carmel Valley Garden Association's traditional summer potluck supper was repeated last Sunday afternoon in the gardens of Hazel and Bill Milbourn on Boronda Road. Members of the club, joined by many former members, enjoyed the tour of Bill's bountiful vegetable gardens, Hazel's lovely flowers and the delicious meal served at numerous redwood and umbrella-shaded tables, placed about the Milbourn's grounds. Assisting with the afternoon festivities was their neighbor and also a member, Mrs. Fae Lloyd.

FOUR YEARS AGO:

Carmel Valley volunteer firemen combed the two Valley thrift shops last week for the zany attire worn at the annual soft-ball game played at the Little League field pitting Company I against Company II.

A spokesman for Company I claims that it was a shut-out for his team while eyewitnesses say that the score was 17-0, a decisive victory for Company II.

SEVEN YEARS AGO:

Recently, Al and Nelle Fry provided an evening of Carmel Valley fun and friendliness. The setting was the beautiful Carmel Valley Inn, and the occasion, to become acquainted with other members of the new Cabana Club, which the couple has instituted this year ...

Members of the Cabana Club include the following families: Dr. Benjamin T. Richard, Brad Bowman, Charles Allaire, Alberta Cunningham, Louis Akerstrom, Conrad Olsen, Ed Weiner, Bruno Roessler, Donald T. Brill, Gene Cornelius, Thomas Twohig, Stanley K. Holmes, Mark Fields, Mayor L. W. Pollard, Robert Austin Bell, and A. T. Crampton. Also the Street Family, Miss Elizabeth A. Jones, T. J. Waters, C. W. Ale and Sigurd Liseth, M.D.

Air tankers valuable tools to help fight forest fires

Last month, the Carmel Valley Fire Department called Mutual Aid to help fight the eight-acre brush and grass fire on the Del Thorkelson property. For the third time in four years, the Forestry Service dispatched two air tankers to the Valley. Thanks to the chemical bombing, the flames were quickly extinguished.

According to a release from the California Division of Forestry, there are 18 air tanker bases throughout the state, which are available to all forest-fire agencies. Six of these bases are managed by the California Division of Forestry, six are operated jointly by the Division and the U. S. Forest Service, and the other six belong to the U. S. Forest Service exclusively.

Most areas, under the State's responsibility, are within 15-minute's flying time from one of the air-attack bases. And no area is farther than 30 minutes away. As a valuable tool for the forest firefighter, the air tanker justifies its cost.

In the Central Coast District, there are two California Division of Forestry air-attack bases -- one at Paso Robles, and one at Hollister. Every day during the Fire Season, pilots and planes are on duty from 10:15 a.m. to 45 minutes before sunset.

To meet the rigid performance standards required by the Division of Forestry and the FAA, surplus Navy TBM dive bombers of World War II vintage have been rebuilt. Specially-constructed tanks, which carry 600 gallons of retardant, fit into the space that once carried torpedoes. Water-tight gates, at the bottoms of these tanks, are set for quick release by the pilot. The planes are normally airborne within five minutes of dispatch. And reloading takes only four minutes. Fourteen more air tankers at Hollister, during sustained-campaign fire activity, can be accommodated for quick loading, reloading, and over-night parking.

Retardants are mixed in three 12,000-gallon tanks, by Forestry air-attack crews. These retardants do more than quench a fire's action. Each is, in fact, a fertilizer and remains effective until it rains. (The Forestry Service assures those persons who called in that the borate contains only fertilizer - not seeds.) To show the air-coordinator and pilots the drop pattern, retardants are dyed a reddish color.

The Division of Forestry reports that, in 1968, Hollister-based air tankers flew 370 hours on 159 fires, dropping 379,750 gallons of retardant. At the Del Thorkelson fire in July, 12 drops were made at $100 per drop -- or approximately $1.67 per pound. By aborting the spreading of fires, the air tanker justifies its cost for protection of life and property.

Buddy Guy at Jazz Festival

Buddy Guy, young Chicago blues vocalist and guitarist, will make his first appearance at the Monterey Jazz Festival this year, when he performs during the Saturday afternoon Festival concert, September 20, of the three-day five-concert jazz weekend.

The Monterey Jazz Festival is set for September 19-20-21, in the 7000-seat outdoor arena on the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

"Guy combines extraordinary showmanship with brilliant guitar style" according to Festival general manager, Jimmy Lyons. Of his own performances Guy says, "I don't consider myself as a singer or a guitar player. I consider myself as -- no I can't say an actor, but I act with the guitar. I perform, I sing a little bit and I play the guitar a little, so all three of them together I should make myself one as all."

Newsweek Magazine put it this way: "Guy ... spills notes from his guitar in runs too fast to hear, too complex to grasp, or in a sudden change of pace, he will sustain one slow, tingling nerve end of a note after another. He will start a song only to break off and begin another, at times muttering impassioned syllables instead of words, or erupting into gospel-like exhortations."

Also set for the Saturday afternoon concert, according to Lyons, is Willie "The Lion" Smith, the legendary jazz pianist who will be making his first appearance on stage at the Monterey Jazz Festival.

Lyons also said that artists already signed for the Festival in addition to Smith and Guy are: The Modern Jazz Quartet, Thelonious Monk Quintet, Joe Williams, The Fourth Way, Cannonball Adderley Quintet, Sarah Vaughan and the Buddy Rich Band.

BONUS BANKING TIPS from UCB

Promises, Promises.

You've been promising yourself that one of these days, real soon, you'll sit down and plan your estate. You'll put all the figures together and add up what you're really worth.

Then you'll see what ways there are of conserving as much of that estate as possible. One of these days you'll have to do it. Because you know it's the wise thing to do. One of these days.

United California Bank has some good news for you. "One of these days" is here. Right now. At the Carmel Rancho office of UCB, in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

In the new, more spacious Carmel Rancho office, there are now permanent desks for two of the peninsula's most alert Trust Officers: Bill Hoot and Art Carruthers. They're available to discuss your estate plans with you in detail. How to make sure the government gets only its fair share. The advantages of a corporate trustee over an individual.

You realize, of course, a chat with one of UCB's Trust Officers puts you under no obligation whatsoever. But it will put a new light on your plans. Call 624-2711 now for an appointment. Promise?

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan 659—2468

AN APPROPRIATE THEME SONG for Valley residents for the summer months would be "Getting To Know You" for not only have numerous families hosted children from Mexico on the exchange program but also the Carmel Valley Lions Club is again participating in the exchange of Japanese college students.

Yoshiyki Hanada and Masaaki Nishimura are the two young men welcomed locally under the Youth Exchange Program sponsored by Lions International in which students from all countries may visit other countries as guests of, usually, Lions families. It is the Lions' desire that such students, living with and learning the habits and customs of their hosts and their hosts' country will have a better understanding of each other's problems and will improve harmony and peace conditions throughout the world.

Beth and Clyde Hitchcock of Merrill Way are but one of the 140 homes in eight districts of Northern California and Nevada entertaining the young people currently in our country. Thirty of them are established in this District of 48 clubs. With the aid of other Valley Lions, trips were planned to COMSAT, Hearst Castle, the Big Trees, the Monterey Fair and many of the tourist attractions of our own area. Contributing to the students during their two week visit were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bordonaro, Mr. and Mrs. Art Fosso, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gansel, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. James Goold, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Penpraze. Because of Clyde Hitchcock's unexpected hospitalization, Cmdr. and Mrs. William Stowers graciously hosted Yoshiuki and Masaaki for the last five days of their visit here.

Dr. and Mrs. B.G. Moises of Del Rey Oaks (Seaside Lions) who are entertaining a Japanese girl, invited the two Valley guests to join them in the tour of the 17 Mile Drive, Hearst Castle, visits to the Ginza, a sukiyaki dinner party and a theatre party to see "Oliver."

Tina and Mal Tavares with children Darlene, Dennis and Danny turned their home on El Caminto over to the Lions Club on Sunday for a barbecue honoring the boys. The fare for their guests was strictly "western" with hamburgers, beans and an assortment of salads.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Cliff Bolgard, John Gonsalves, Mike Downey, Bill Penpraze, Tom Bordonaro, Art Fosso, Charles Gansel, Clyde Hitchcock, Richard Mc Kenzie, Maurie Nessell, Bill Stowers, Lloyd Todd; also Warren Douglas, James Goold, Don Laird, George T.C. Smith, Sal O'Campo and Mrs. Jack Black.

The boys have the same birthday (October 9) however two years apart. Yoshiyki Hanada is 22. His home is Nishinomiya City, Hyogo, Japan. He attends Totori University where he is majoring in pre-med. He is very much a baseball fan and plays on the University team. He is looking forward to sharing his travel experiences with his younger brother. His father is a manufacturer of glass bottles. Twenty-year-old Masaaki Nishimura is from Kinosaki-Gun, Hyogo, Japan. His father owns a hotel, and Masaaki, now an economics major at the university plans to go into hotel management following his present course. Painting and fencing are his hobbies and his tour will be retold to two younger sisters.

The boys left on Sunday for a week in Seattle followed by a week in Vancouver, a brief visit to Canada and Hawaii before returning home for the fall semester which begins September 9.

THERE ARE GUESTS at the Harvey Deal home on Lupin Land. Their daughter, Donna, and three sons of Sunnyvale, returned to the Valley with Donna's grandmother, Mrs. Vera Stokes who was visiting the Terry Wilson family enroute home from Mill Valley where she was the guest of her sister. Highlight of her visit to the Bay area was attending an ice show which Vera says is "Better than ever" this year. Donna is busy visiting the many Valley friends made when she and Terry were residents of Paso Hondo.

MRS. IRVING OLLASON and Mrs. Larry Busick, chairman and co-chairman of the Chapel Guild-sponsored "Holiday Bazaar" held a planning session last week at the Fellowship Hall with members of their committee. An early date, November 8, has been set for this year's annual event. Shoppers will find booths open from 10 until 5 featuring an exciting array of decorations and gifts for not only Christmas, but a new feature this year: THANKSGIVING. Mrs. Joseph Baudouin, chairman in charge of the fall arrangements, tipped a vast "Horn of Plenty" to give committee heads a preview of the special Thanksgiving table decor. Attending were Mmes. Leon Amyx, Thomas McKiernon, Joseph Baudouin, Vera Stokes, Elbert Wade, Howard Vail, W.R. Moore, Clifford Bolgard, Elsie Siemens and Mildred Hattan.

FRIENDS AND PLAYMATES of Mr. and George Fry and children, George Jr., Mary, Gail and Becky, were regretfully saying goodbyes last week when the Frys left for Portland, Oregon. Connie and George who made their home at the end of the Hide-Away Motel cul de sac, have purchased a home in the City of Roese where George plans to return to the ministry. While on the Peninsula he taught at Del Rey Woods, and was an assistant at the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

MEMBERS OF THE COOPERATIVE Babysitting Group who met last week at the Via Contenta Road home of Mrs. Robert Oross held a "Fire Shower" for Mrs. James Friday. Louise, whose home in the Rauber tract was recently destroyed by fire, was presented with numerous items for the three children and her temporary home by her thoughtful friends. Three new members welcomed to the group were Diane Angle, Maxine Finley and Wendy Tucker.

VISITORS FROM OVERSEAS at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock (center) have been Yoshiyki Hanada (left) and Misaaki Nishimura.

Also attending were Merrily Alliotti, Karen Cook, Maggie Hallisey, Ellie Hansen, Venita Nielsen, Jean Powell, Gina Welch and Paula Terrel.

VALLEY FRIENDS were not surprised in the least to learn that hard working Mrs. Donald Sugget had been appointed chairman of the residential division of the 1969 Salinas Community Chest campaign. Doris, who received the appointment from general chairman, Luther Vaden, is a charter member of the White Oaks Theatre Guild.

***

TOM OLIVER, popular former manager of the Carmel Valley Inn, recently moved from his position as manager of the Beach Club at Pebble Beach to manager of the Del Monte Lodge. Tom, Margaret and children now make their home in Carmel.

MR. AND MRS. TOMMY LEONARD who were residents during the war years when Tommy was stationed at Fort Ord were Valley guests last week enroute to their home in Albany, Oregon. Tink and Tommy had attended business meetings in Los Angeles, vacationed in Mexico, and stopped here on Phelps Way for a visit with their Godchild, Heidi Hattan, and her family.

ONE DEER AND THREE RATTLESNAKES was total bag count last weekend of the hunting party which opened the season on the Priest Valley Ranch of an Esquiline Road resident, Mrs. Baxter P. Myers. Mrs. Baxter, who owns 640 acres of grazing land 25 miles east of San Lucas, turned the hunting trip into a family gathering. Joining her were her daughter and son-in-law from Benetia, Mr. and Mrs. John Reece and their children, Jay and Terri; her brother Ed Tyler and his sons, Jimmy and Roger from Crows Landing; her daughter and son-in-law from San Ardo, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Whitman and sons, Mike and Scott (it was Scott's first year to hunt with a Junior Rifleman's certificate); her brother Bill Tyler and his son-in-law Jim Baker, both of Pacific Grove, and her nephew, David Tyler, who has a horseshoeing school at Portersville.

IF THE STATEMENTS received from Brinton's this month were printed on pink stationery with matching envelopes, you must forgive them.....it is all because of Marcet Elaine. The baby daughter arrived for Mary and Richard Brinton July 16 and life has not been the same since! Sharing in Marcet's welcome are two proud brothers, David and Craig.

MEMBERS OF "THE BLUE JAYS", a square dance group whose invitational workshop is taught by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Jones, gave their instructors a surprise housewarming last week at their recently completed home on Story Road. Party planners had provided a delicious potluck buffet and a gift for the new home of Monterey Jade, a fruit bowl and candle holders, which perfectly matched the colors of the carpet. Dancers include Ramona and Jim Brown, Flossie and Jess Quarels, Yvone O'Donavon, Sara and Bill Farr, Kaye Simpson, Jim Taylor, Ann and Glen Stoop, Danny Quarels, Rusty and Lucky Lawson, Jean and Rowlan Enochs and Kathy Draper.

TROUT STOCKING IN CENTRAL COAST AREA

Department of Fish and Game trout planting crews will visit waters in eight coast area counties this week to stock catchable - size rainbows.

Waters on this week's schedule are:

Monterey County -- Big Sur River.

San Luis Obispo County -- Lower Nacimiento River.

The Department reminds anglers that at this time of the year water conditions can change rapidly, and may become unsuitable for trout. For this reason the planting schedule is subject to change without notice.

STORK CORNER

After a flurry of boys, one baby girl put in an appearance. On August 5, Susan Kumiko arrived at Community Hospital to brighten the scene for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Williams, 70 Rancho Road.

NO FIRE CALLS THIS WEEK!

Chief ''Chip'' Collins reports no fires for the Valley this week. ''That's a record for this time of the year,'' the Chief said.

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

At 12:55 p.m. on August 11, the emergency crew answered a call at Los Laureles Lodge. Mrs. John Bulmer suffered multiple lacerations of her arms and legs in a car accident. She was transported to Dr. Tocchet's office.

Last Sunday afternoon at 3:55 p.m., eight-year old Max Kuenkal gashed his right knee. A doctor was contacted, and Max's parents, who live on River Road, took him to the medical office.

To interview members for Hospital Auxiliary

Nan Norwick, Active Membership Chairman for the Community Hospital Auxiliary, announced that the next interviewing date for prospective members is on September 4. If you are interested, or have a friend who is qualified, and are prepared to devote time to hospital volunteer work, you can obtain an application from Mrs. Norwick. Applications must be completed and turned in at least a week before the interview date.

Fire Chief "Chip" Collins said several people got excited over the mention of seeds being mixed with the borate dropped on the Del Thorkelson fire last month. Seems they were afraid of marijuana sprouting on the hillside. In this issue, we have more information about the air drops.

A week or so ago, I decided to try the continental breakfast at the Encounter – but they weren't open at 8:30 a.m. Well, the other day, I stopped in for lunch. Very bohemian atmosphere – and casual service. There's an antique cash register that's a museum piece—and I like the red director's chairs. But the chief attraction is "Savvy" –who entertains the guests.

The weekend of the County Fair, there was a group of five gypsies strolling down Ocean Avenue in Carmel. Just as colorful as I remembered. When I was a kid, the only time we locked our doors was when the carnival came to town. Gyspies were non-violent – but light-fingered. And they have a tightly-knit culture all their own.

Out at the Presidio Museum last week, four young soldiers sat on the cannon in front. "We're antiquing it," they said to me, while wielding paint-brushes. "See what you taxpayers spend your money for." They laughed at their own joke, and seemed to be enjoying their duty.

Mr. Yorkovitch, at the School District offices, was telling me that the kids who ride the school buses down Big Sur way play chess while waiting and on the ride home. They've even formed various clubs, as I understand it. Now, that's using their heads, don't you think?

The George Dobrys had an interesting guest this past week. Don Ross, a cousin of Mrs. Dobry, is a Navyman from Port Hueneme, California. And he's a journalist for a Navy Seabee Battalion (MCB-9). In that capacity, he is responsible for public relations, public information, and internal publications for the 900-man battalion. A native of Arkansas, Don has served in the Navy for three years. Having already spent two overseas tours in Vietnam and Okinawa, he is scheduled to return to Vietnam in December. This visit was his second to the Valley – and he hopes to return as often as his service permits. BWW

Guest speaker at Community Church

This Sunday, Reverend William David Pratt will speak at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula on the subject, "Where Did the Angels Go." Reverend Pratt, an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ, is also head administrator of Carmel Valley Manor. Before he came to the Manor, he served churches in Illinois and California.

Carmelo 4-H Club thanks buyers

Carmelo 4-H would like to give its thanks to the people who participated in the Junior Livestock Auction at the Monterey County Fair. We would especially like to thank the people who bought our hogs and lambs. They are the following: Lambert's Wagon Wheel Coffee Shop, The Steinback Theatre, Salinas Drive-In Market, Art Bergs Tire Service, The United California Bank, Beattie Motors, Bower's Pharmacy, The Outrigger, Richard McKenzie, Hayward Lumber Co., Sherwood Gardens Restaurant, Sherwood Barber Shop, Wayne's Colleges of Beauty, Salinas Feed and Seed and Jack Russell of Russell Service Center.

We would also like to give a sincere "Thank You" to Art Bayer, our fair auctioneer, who spends so much of his time trying to get more and more buyers to the auction each year. The Monterey County 4-H Clubs sincerely appreciate his help.

PAUL INGRAM

Kiwanians hear Alisal club president

At the last meeting of Kiwanis, Edwin Norris spoke to the group about the violence and protest so prevalent in our country today. Rev. Norris, a retired Baptist minister and president of the Alisal Kiwanis Club, asked that club members work to build respect for police and law-enforcement officers. Patriotism, he said, is an individual responsibility, but they should not stop there. There has been too much publicity, according to Rev. Norris, about "Police Brutality," and too little about the bravery they exhibit when active on riot duty.

Kiwanians should also take a definite interest in local political divisions, making a point of finding out about their programs as a personal challenge. They must learn to equate respectability with responsibility, power with purpose, and might with right, the speaker concluded.

Arrangements have been made for parking cars at the Laguna Seca Races on August 24. Dr. Welton Lee, of Hopkins Marine Station, will speak on the subject of DDT at the next scheduled meeting.
